SECRETARY TAFT'S ARGUMENT A PALPABLE FALLACY.

walk of life and are essential to permanent "Cost Reduction" Through Combination, If True, Has Proved of No Benefit to the American Penple-Whole Theory Wrong.

Secretary Taft seems to have got into trouble over his late remarks to the railroad conductors at Chicago Socialists quote what he sale with satisfaction as admitting "the fact of the class struggle." The secretary declares he was misquoted, and that what he did say was this:

"That unless laborers united into organizations, the laborer would stand no chance in that inevitable contro versy that we always hope will be peaceful, but that must exist-that inevitable controversy as to how labor and capital shall share the joint product of both."

The effort of Secretary Taft to allay the dislike of labor to him, on account of his former injunctions when judge, in the interest of employers, and against the strikers, will require more than such a small tub that he has thrown to the labor whale.

But whatever may come of the controversy between Mr. Taft and organized labor, there is another state ment he is reported to have made in the same speech that no Democrat can indorse, because it does not agree with notorious facts. "Combinations of capital," said Mr. Taft," within the bounds of the law are necessary for business expediency and for cost reduction." Mr. Taft evidently believes with President Roosevelt that there are "good trusts" which through monopoly can produce "cost reduction." It would be interesting to know how these eminent Republicans explain the fact that although the steel trust by combination virtually controls the steel production of the country and has undoubtedly reduced the cost of production, yet persists in maintaining the price of its products at the top notch. "Cost reduction" of trust products is but of little service to the American people if they do not participate in the reduction by buying cheaper goods

There can be no trust or combina tion unless there is some kind of monopoly back of it. Therefore, there can be no combinations that are good for the people. Those trusts that are protected by the tariff would soon become comparatively "good" if the tariff that protects them was reduced to a revenue basis so that the competition they have smothered at home by combination would be revived by competition from abroad. If by combination under free competition the trusts, be it the steel trust or any other trust, can then by "cost reduction" sell their products cheaply to the American people, there would be some ground for but how is a man who has married saying such a competing trust is a a widow with six children going to good trust. But there never can be a good trust as long as it is so protected by the Republican policy of more for its products here than it sells such products for in foreign coun-

"Brutal Finance."

In the face of a declining revenue the Republican majority in congress has dug into the great treasury surplus at a rate which will make the treasury $125,000,000 worse off by June 30, 190%, than it would be if last year's conditions were duplicated this year. And yet, with all this lavish outpouring from the treasury, it still holds more than $200,000,000 for which there is no present use, the taking of which from the pockets of the people has needlessly helped to impoverish

As Ellis H. Roberts, former treasurer of the United States, has said, such brutal finance would not be tolerated n any other civilized country on earth. It would not be practiced in this counry by any other organization than the Republican party.

Trusts in the Senate.

That eminent Republican, United States Senator Guggenheim of Colorado, although when elected to the senate he resigned as president or director of the smelting trust, is still evidently looking after the interests of the trust. On April 28, the Congressional Record discloses the fact that he submitted to the senare an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill proposing to appropriate $75,000 for the transportation of allver dollars by registered mail or otherwise. As such an appropriation will fillow the treasury to pay the freight by express or otherwise on silver dollars for such banks as oan use silver, it should add to the demand, and thus help to create a demand for silver dollars, and thus put up the price of silver which the smelting trust controls.

Eating Up the Surplus. High tariff rates are an uncertain way of raising revenue. In flush times imports of foreign goods increase and the revenue from customs expands into a surplus, thereby inciting to extravagant appropriations. Now business is depressed, by reason of the panic produced by mistaken Republican policles, a large deficit in the government revenues is assured, which will be nearly, if not quite $70,000,000 for the fiscal year. Still extravagance holds high carnival, and congress appropriated more money than ever before, and the surplus that should be used to build the Panama canal and other public works needed will be exhausted. More and higher taxes, probably a return to the stamp taxes of the Spanish war, if the Republican extravagance is to continue, would seem to be the prospect.

The Democratic policy has ever een, while safeguarding most jealous ly the rights and interests of the people, to interfere no more than may be necessary with the affairs of Individuals or corporations in the conduct

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed.
